

Phatchet have been working in various areas: financial services, gaming & entertainment, healthcare, banking, building cement, chemicals, and lately circular economy. His background was from IT & programming but his passion drives him to circular economy, and waste to value. In SCG, he responsible for KoomKah, which is digital solution for waste bank management, and waste collection convert to upcycling products to consumers.