

Armelle is a High Performance Building Engineer and a Green Building specialist with an expertise in Environmentally Sustainable Design (ESD) in Europe and Asia. Passionate about sustainability and committed in promoting green growth, Armelle pushes business practices on sustainability forward.

She is the founder of Green Building Consulting & Engineering, an award-winning Thailand based company which provides design consultancy and technical analysis to assist local and international project teams in designing high asset value buildings that improve people's well-being while preserving the planet.